

Strengthen your professional development system

Make sure your PD resources are positively impacting educator and student success.

Build your internal capacity and create sustainable success

Plan from the bottom up, not the top down

Align your systems with local and state guidelines and statutes

Improve instructional and leadership practices

Monitor and support implementation at the educator, school, and district levels

Evaluate outcomes using appropriate data

Empower educators to meet the needs of all students

McREL can help your state or district build and sustain high-quality professional development (PD) systems by providing the analysis, training, and technical assistance needed to increase effectiveness and maximize your resources.

Our skilled educators and researchers help you focus on the “how” of PD planning, delivery, and evaluation.

We can help you connect student achievement and behavioral data, educator evaluation data and certification needs, and school and district improvement plans, rolling it all into a systemic plan for PD at the educator, school, and district levels.
